

REMARKS/ARGUMENTS

In response to the examiner's analysis of claim construction the claims, as now presented, recite merchandise.

The specification has been amended to provide terminology used in the claims.

The claims as now presented are believed to be definite as required by 35 USC 112. The term "box-like" has been removed from the claims.

Original claims 1, 2 and 5 have been canceled, claims 3 and 4 have been amended, claims 6 and 7 are in a withdrawn status and dependant claim 8 has been added.

Hill 5,866,181 does not disclose a cover, does not show an information panel secured to adjoined adjacent sides of a box nor does that patent show thin stratal positioned merchandise items. The merchandise items of Hill are removed after removing the label.

Headon doesn't disclose a box formed by four panels adjoined in series; nor does Headon disclose an information panel at a corner of a box having a rectangular opening which permits stratal positioned thin merchandise to be withdrawn through the opening.

Baird 2,675,123 and Gatton 4,762,226 does not suggest modification of one by the other. They disclose very different packaging concepts. They don't package thin stratal positioned merchandise items and do not show a product information panel in a corner of a box opening upon removal of a removable cap

A Notice of Allowance is solicited.
